One key component of Royal Electric is their team. "We are into the people we hire, and building careers and lasting relationships" says Leslie Schlaegel, V.P. of Talent Development. Royal Electric works hard to retain their employees, in which Leslie attributes to Royal Electric's passion to build lasting relationships with not only team members, but partners and clients as well.

From working on unique projects like Midway Satellite Concourse North (MSC) and the Delta Hangar, to giving back to school programs that support students interested in construction careers, Royal Electric has demonstrated their passion for not only construction, but for the people in the community as well.
